

Welcome To Evergreen Surgical Center

Evergreen Surgical Center is a joint venture partnership between Evergreen Healthcare and community physicians. The Center is also accredited by Medicare and The Joint Commission.

PATIENT & CLIENT RIGHTS

While we are known for providing advanced medical solutions, it is our belief that knowledge is still the most powerful tool - yours and ours.

As a patient or client, you have the right to:

- Be notified of your rights and exercise your rights in regard to your care.
- Receive safe, private, high quality and respectful care.
- Be provided impartial access to care.
- Receive medical services in a life-threatening emergency.
- Have your comfort needs addressed.
- Be informed of aspects of your condition necessary to make decisions regarding your care.
- Refuse treatment or services to the extent permitted by law and be informed of the potential consequences of such an action.
- Know the name of your physician and others who care for you.
- Receive, in terms you can understand, detailed information about your care, your illness, your treatment or other services you may be receiving.
- Actively participate in decisions involving your care, including ethical issues, and be informed of any change in plan of care in advance.
- Receive care from personnel that are properly trained to perform assigned tasks and coordinate services.
- Courteous and respectful treatment of person and property, privacy and freedom from abuse and discrimination.
- Confidential management of patient records and information (except when law dictates otherwise, you may approve or refuse the release of your records).
- Access information in your own patient record upon request.
- Be informed of the process for submitting and addressing any complaints to the Surgery Center facility or a state agency.
- Receive an explanation of your bill and policy concerning billing and payment for services, including inquiring about the possibility of financial aid.
- Seek a second opinion or choose another caregiver.
- Freedom from the use of seclusion or restraint of any form unless clinically necessary.
- Refuse to participate in experimental research.
- Sign an advance directive such as a living will.
- Be informed of the reasons for impending discharge, transfer to another agency and/or level of care, ongoing care requirements and other available services and options, if needed.

PATIENT & CLIENT RESPONSIBILITIES

As a patient or client, you have the responsibility to:

- Participate in decisions involving your care.
- Provide a complete and accurate medical history to the best of your knowledge, and to provide information about current medications or treatments.
- To ask questions and seek clarification about your diagnosis, course of treatment or care plan. Provide information about complications of health symptoms.
- To follow the proposed course of treatment or care, recommendations and advice, which you and your provider have agreed upon.
- To be considerate of the rights of other patients and clients, care personnel and property.
- To provide accurate and timely information about sources of payment and your ability to meet financial obligations.
- Make it known whether you understand what is expected of you, and whether you are able and willing to comply.

Parents and guardians may represent or assist a patient or client in fulfilling these rights and responsibilities.
